

Europe Comics Live in London at LBF 2016

Europe (April 5th, 2016) - Europe Comics, the joint digital initiative of 13 European comics industry players, is glad to announce the upcoming events for “Europe Comics Live in London”, taking place April 12-14 across the British capital, in partnership with the London Book Fair, the London Book and Screen Week, the French Institute and the House of Illustration.

Apart from a stand (2B11) at the London Book Fair, Europe Comics will be organising two panels, with British comics heavyweight Pat Mills and Electricomics co-founder Leah Moore, amongst others. An evening at the House of Illustration dedicated to women in comics will see Posy Simmonds and Florence Cestac in a discussion chaired by comics historian Paul Gravett. The French Institute of London will be hosting a ‘Comics Cordiale’ evening dedicated to European authors, with artists from 5 countries, among which will be Sylvain Runberg, author of Orbital (Cinebook). Europe Comics authors Vanna Vinci (Italy) and Marcial Toledano (Spain) will be partaking in a live sketching event as part of the London Book and Screen Week.

Full listing attached.

About Europe Comics - europecomics.com

Launched in November 2015 by a coalition of nine comics publishers, two rights agents, and an audio-visual company, from eight different European countries, Europe Comics is working towards the creation of a pan-European comics catalogue, available in English and digital format, a website with comics information for readers and professionals, and a series of author tours and events across Europe and the USA.

Media contacts

Nazeli K. Kyuregyan

Nazeli.k@europecomics.com

+32 2 526 6853

+32 483 392 750

Irina Polianina

press@europecomics.com

+32 2 526 6490