

August 6, 2015
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact:
Kristen M. Steele
Director of Marketing & PR
800.537.6727 x1410, desk

Bookmasters, Paragon House sign distribution agreement

ASHLAND, Ohio (August 6, 2015) – Bookmasters (<http://www.bookmasters.com/>), one of the largest providers of integrated book publishing services in the U.S., has signed an agreement with Paragon House (<https://paragonhouse.com/>) to provide sales, distribution, and fulfillment services in the United States, Australia, and New Zealand.

Based in St. Paul, Minn., Paragon House publishes trade books, scholarly research, textbooks, and reference works in the areas of general philosophy, ethics, contemporary values, world religion, spirituality, social thought, women's studies, social sciences, political philosophy, economics, integral studies, world peace, and globalization.

Bloomsbury Publishing PLC previously managed the distribution of Paragon House's titles, while Macmillan previously managed Paragon House's fulfillment.

"We are looking forward to a long and productive partnership," said Gordon L. Anderson, president of Paragon House. "Bookmasters is well positioned to meet our changing sales and distribution needs as the publishing world undergoes major transformations in technology and corporate restructuring."

"Bookmasters is proud to welcome Paragon House into our distribution family," said Deb Keets, vice president of global development at Bookmasters. "Their wide range of titles brings a refreshing perspective to many historical and cultural subjects of note and we look forward to being part of the effort to share those perspectives with generations of readers to come."

Bookmasters, based in Ashland, Ohio, is one of the largest providers of integrated publisher services in the U.S. For more than 40 years, Bookmasters has offered services to publishers and authors such as printing, print book warehousing and distribution, eBook conversion and distribution, editorial, and design. To learn more, visit www.bookmasters.com.

###